

Knowledge Base: Jordanian Education System

Overview: Jordan has a well-developed education system with high literacy rates and strong emphasis on academic achievement.

Structure: The system includes Kindergarten (optional), Basic Education (grades 1–10), Secondary Education (grades 11–12), and Higher Education.

Secondary Paths: Students choose between Academic and Vocational tracks after grade 10.

Tawjihi: The General Secondary Education Certificate Examination (Tawjihi) is a key milestone for university admission.

Higher Education: Jordan has public and private universities offering undergraduate and postgraduate degrees.

Regulation: The Ministry of Education oversees schools, while the Ministry of Higher Education governs universities.

Languages: Arabic is the primary language of instruction, with English widely used in science and higher education.

Challenges: Key challenges include overcrowded classrooms, resource limitations, and adapting to digital education trends.
